ALLOY

FRONT-END DEVELOPER

january 2017 -

front-end development at Alloy has largely consisted of developing the front-end for very large-scale Drupal websites for nonprofits, industrial eCommerce companies, and digital marketing for law firms. While most of the work is in Drupal/PHP, I take every opportunity I can to build sites with more modern, Javascript-centric and static stacks!

Universal Mind

INTERACTION DEVELOPER

december 2015 - december 2016

as an Interaction Developer at Universal Mind, my main responsibility was maintaining, and iterating the Universal Mind flagship site and the Digital Continuum project, which were large-scale static site generation projects. The sites were created using Hexo, Embedded Javascript (EJS) tem-plating, and Sass for styling and maintaining the design system for the company brand.

GreatDental WEBSITES

UI DEVELOPER

spring 2015 - january 2015

this was mostly designing user interface and UX improvements to web-based projects such as an existing proprietary CMS; developing HTML prototypes and UI deliverables such as wireframes and site mockups; converting .PSD mockups of new client websites to functional code using HTML, Bootstrap, and LESS preprocessing; making design modifications and fixing style bugs on earlier client sites.

fusionbox

JR. PROJECT MANAGER

december 2014 - spring 2015

as a junior-level project manager, I managed web development projects, using largely agile meth-odologies. This meant keeping in close contact with a variety of clients, organizing meetings be-tween clients and the Fusionbox team, and making sure clients' needs were being met on schedule.
